Thank You

We are grateful for all of your requests and privileged to recite each name this afternoon. Our Staff and Volunteers make every effort to pronounce and spell every name correctly.

The Butterfly

Native American Poem

A butterfly lights beside us like a sunbeam

And for a brief moment its glory and beauty belong to our world

Then it flies on again,
and though we wish it could have stayed
We feel lucky to have seen it.

Butterfly Fly

poem by Lili Pintea-Reed

A rush of wings, they flutter high
To touch the sun and kiss the sky
A butterfly is with us now
No more a caterpillar upon a leaf
Our loved one with angel wings
A soaring butterfly with us they sing.

Did You Know?

When the fully-grown adult butterfly emerges from its pupa, its delicate wings are crinkled, wet, and un-inflated. The butterfly hangs upside-down and pumps blood into the wings to inflate them. It must then wait for the wings to dry before it can fly. When the fragile wings fray or are torn, they do not repair themselves.
